OF THE WHOLE NUMBER INSURED DURING THE LAST TWO YEARS, NOT ONE HAS DIED.

The endorsement which the fundamental ideas of this Company are daily receiving from eminent medical men throughout the land, the acceptance of our common sense, simple, and secure method of Insurance, and the commendation of leading journals--both the insurance and secular press--give the best encouragement of triumphant success and general acceptance.

COMPARATIVE BIOMETRICAL STATEMENT.

	1872.	1873.
Total amount at Risk,	$6,217,171	$7,221,633
Number of Policies,	2,769	2,920
Number of Death Claims,	11	11
Amount paid for Death Claims,	$28,077	$31,600
Number of Death Claims per 1,000 persons insured,	4.5	3.7
All N. Y. Companies,	11.9	12.9
Ratio of Death Claims to whole amount at Risk,	.47	.43
All N. Y. Companies,	1.15	.27
Ratio of Death Claims and Expenses to am't at Risk,	1.33	1.17
All N. Y. Companies,	2.53	2.62
Ratio of Death Claims to total Income,	14.05	10.76
All N. Y. Companies,	22.07	25.09
Ratio of Death Claims and Expenses to total Income,	41.85	23.64
All N. Y. Companies,	42.67	45.34
Ratio of total Expense of Management to total Income,	27.82	18.12
All N. Y. Companies,	27.06	23.14

The Official Report (N. Y.) shows that the ratio of the number of policies upon which claims were paid in all companies has advanced from 10.9 per thousand in 1872, to 11.9 in 1873. In the former year the American Popular lost 4.7, and in the latter 3.7 per thousand.

The rate of death claims and of expenses to total income, and to total amount at risk, increasing rather than diminishing in the case of the aggregate companies, being in both years very large, contrast strongly with the low ratio of this Company and its growing prosperity. In the light of these facts, its low premium rates are more than justified in a practical sense, as, in a scientific view, they are both equitable and secure.

Before the era of inflation in life insurance, the old-plan companies are shown by the reports to have done a comparatively small business, and it was doubtless, with the large premiums they required, comparatively safe. Some, commencing later, "pushed business" from the first, with a vehemence that created amazement; and already, in common with the older companies, are beginning to experience the reaction that must have been expected from the abnormal and indiscreet inflation.

The comparatively small (but really large for the kind) number of policies issued by this Company is one of the best evidences of its security--the rigid adherence to well-established scientific principles, in the rating of risks, giving low premiums only to superior lives, and thus making the Company attractive to few others. It would surprise those not acquainted with the working of our plan, to know the number of applications received and the amount of labor and care expended in their examination and rating, all of which is just so much to the advantage of superior risks.

It will also be noticed that large business is not a guarantee of safety, for if the mortality is high, indicating a want of care or skill in selection, the larger the business, the more safety is imperiled; and while small business may not show care, large business does not show carelessness. We could have shown a very large business from the start if we had been indifferent to the kind. But the kind is the question, and more work is necessary in doing the amount of our kind of business than would do five times as much that would be unprofitable to both the assured and to the Company.

The increase of our business during the past year, is as wholesome and encouraging as our losses are small.

Our ratio of increase has been--
In number of Policies, 105.[illegible]
In amount of Assurance, 116.[illegible]
The ratio of all N. Y. Co.'s has been--
In number of Policies, 102.[illegible]
In amount of Assurance, 102.[illegible]

BAYOLINE

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

Something which has long been needed.

Every day we hear of some case of paralysis, softening of the brain or some nervous disorder of the head resulting from the use of hair preparations containing lead, sulphur, bismuth, or other mineral substance equally poisonous. That the use of these preparations is always attended with danger is an undisputed fact, they are dyes and should not be used for dressing the hair. What has long been needed is a preparation like Bayoline, which is not a restorer or dye, contains neither lead, sulphur, bismuth or any mineral substance whatever. It is a pure and delightful hair dressing, keeps the hair from falling out, promotes its growth, eradicates dandruff, cleanses the scalp, is not greasy or sticky, does not soil and always leaves a sense of cleanliness and comfort attained by no other preparation, for its intended purposes it has never been equalled.

Prepared by LEVI TOWER, Jr., Boston. Sold everywhere by druggists, 75 cents a bottle.

WHAT IS CONSUMPTION BUT

Neglected Catarrh?

Cure one and you will cure the other.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY

Cures CATARRH CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM IT, such as NEURALGIA, DEAFNESS, DIZZINESS, and DISAGREEABLE SOUNDS in the Head, droppings in the Throat, unnatural discharges from the mucous membranes, Asthma, Derangements of the Bladder and Kidneys, and pain in the Back. Also, Colds, Cough and all Consumptive tendencies. It cannot cure confirmed consumption, but will nip in the bud incipient consumption. Thousands of people can testify to the good results derived from the use of the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy.

Read the following certificate:

BRUNSWICK, Me., Nov. 3, 1873.

Messrs. Littlefield & Co.

Your Constitutional Catarrh Remedy is doing wonders. I took the trouble to see Mr. Chas. T. Morse of this place, and give you the facts in his case as I get them from him. At the time of the horse disease his brother was quite sick with it, and took the Remedy, which cured him; Charles then commenced taking it for deafness, he having been so deaf since the age of 14 (now being 41) that his family did not converse with him except upon matters of importance; he felt some benefit from the first bottle, and now, after having taken three, hears better than he ever remembers hearing before in his life. He was so feeble that he could do but little work, and when he went to the village had to ride home in the bottom of the buggy, and also raised much matter from his lungs; but he is now quite smart, and feels confident of regaining his health.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also, in Great Britain, France, and other Foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAGGART."

THE CARMEL AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

THE FIRST ANNUAL FAIR.

The first Fair and Show of the Carmel Agricultural Society of which S. A. Simpson is President, and George E. Dodge, Secretary, was held at Carmel Village, October 24th, 1874.

That Carmel might be mentioned among the living, a meeting of its citizens was called Tuesday evening, previous to the date mentioned, to make preparatory arrangements for a Fair.

The call was responded to, and the wheel set in motion, resulting in what we country folk would deem a success.

Notwithstanding the short notice, scarcely had the sun measured its highness above the horizon, when, might be seen the good man with his better half, their sons and daughters bearing specimens of their beautiful and ingenious handy work, thereby to gain the most conspicuous places for exhibition.

The day was fine, and long before the hour appointed, the avenues leading from the different parts of the town seemed alive. Men with large oxen, cows and fine horses, boys some with small steers, colts or lambs, others with wheelbarrows loaded with crates filled with hens, chickens, geese, etc., while the better half and fair daughters had the charge of the steed that conveyed the bread, butter, honey, fruit and jelly that would tickle the palate of an epicure if he were allowed the privilege of testing the articles.

By 10 o'clock every available hitching post was secured, and the scene on the show grounds and in the hall was all animation.

The Committees of arrangements are entitled to much credit for making Carmel's first Fair and Show a success.

No drunken rows or other jars were introduced to disturb the harmony of the day.

E. H. Gregory, marshal of the day performed his duty in such a manner as to reflect much credit upon himself.

Calais, originally township No. 5, was granted by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to Waterman Thomas, and was incorporated as a town June 16th, 1809. The City Charter was granted August 24th, 1850. The first Government was organized in 1851. The area of the city is 19,[illegible] acres.

Last Friday night the dwelling house and stable of Thomas Stubbs in Guilford were destroyed by fire. Mr. Stubbs barely escaped being badly burned on his face and hands. The fire originated in the stable, is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, and a man by the name of McCrasin has been arrested on suspicion. The property was valued at $1,500, on which there was no insurance.

Monday, a gentleman named Norton was standing in Winslow's provision store in Portland, leisurely smoking his cigar. Suddenly his cigar flew from his lips. At the same moment, almost, Mr. A. L. Winslow, who was standing at a table close at hand, felt a sharp rap on his side and saw a rifle ball flatten itself on the wall near by. It seems that the ball, nearly spent, struck the cigar from Mr. Norton's lips, gave Mr. Winslow a gentle reminder of its presence and then, after vainly butting the wall, fell to the floor.

THE COST OF WAR.--The Republic, a Washington magazine, presents some statistics concerning the different wars in which the United States have been engaged. In the war of the Revolution (1775 to 1782) 278,021 soldiers were engaged, in the war of 1812 to 1815 527,654; in the Mexican war, 73,000--making a total of 878,685--while in the war of 1861 no less than 2,757,688 were engaged. During the Rebellion 276,000 officers and men were killed or wounded, while 6,750 were missing in action. Since the beginning of the Rebellion the government has paid, up to June, 1873, in pensions, over $251,000,000. Deducting $5,000,000 for former pensioners, there is left $250,000,000 growing out of the Rebellion. Some idea of the number of pensioners and the amounts paid during these twelve years, may be gathered from the following table.

Army invalids,	99,804
Army widows and dependent relatives	112,088
Survivors of the war of 1812	18,263
Widows of soldiers of the war of 1812	5,097
Navy invalids	1,430
Navy widows and dependent relatives	1,771
Total	[illegible],431

The Rebellion entailed a debt of $2,500,000,000 upon the government to be paid by the people and, aside from the principal of the public debt and pensions, there was paid during the fiscal year 1873 the sum of $127,002,030, on account of expenses growing out of the late war.

Courting Disease.

The individual may be said to court disease who exposes himself to the miasmatic influences which give rise to chills and fever and other malarious epidemics and endemics, without previously fortifying his system against their insidious attacks by the use of a protective medicinal agent. The hardiest constitution is by no means proof against such maladies, much less one naturally weak or billious, or the antagonistic power of which is lessened by an irregular habit of body. The inhabitants of the bottom lands of the South, of the new clearings of the West, of suburban districts where sunken lots exist, of every locality of the American continent, in fact, where malaria is epidemic or sporadic, declare that the only trust antidote to the miasmatic virus that they have ever used is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. There seems to be something peculiarly resistant in this standard preventive and remedy to all hurtful atmospheric influences.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1874.

THE ELECTIONS.

Our returns from many of the distant States voting Tuesday are still based so largely upon mere estimates and guessing, that it is impossible to compile the detailed results with any degree of accuracy, although the "back towns" will hardly be able to reverse the general aspect of the case. The stampede has already been discussed from one end of the Union to the other, the stay-at-home Republicans, who thought a reduction of our large majority might prove wholesome, feeling a somewhat rueful conviction that they have "allowed the thing to go a trifle too far," and the Democrats boiling over with an exultation which they hardly know how to express. Of course we have various explanations from various stand-points, all of them very positive, some of them very amusing and the whole forming a rather confusing hodge-podge of political interpretation.

The Democratic party organs have all become suddenly impressed with the "majesty of the people," malicious references to the Greely campaign being ruled out of order; while those Republican journals which have, more than any other agency, been instrumental in bringing about the result, are busily looking about for a scape-goat, dividing their preference between Ben Butler and President Grant. The N. Y. World says it is a victory for "hard money," while that other Democratic oracle, the Cincinnati Enquirer, declares that the meaning of the triumph is inflation and a raid on the national bondholders. The Independent press feel sure that the "third term" did it, and that immaculate sheet, the N. Y. Tribune, preaches a sermon on "Grantism," but omits to mention that $50,000 from Tilden for circulating state slander against the only honest Governor that State has known for years. Dana, the outlaw of the Sun, is still more savage on the President, who refused to give him the Collectorship of New York, and is early on the war-path for impeachment; while the Herald, which has straddled the fence throughout the scrimmage, turns up smiling among the crowd of Tammany jubilants. Even the Boston Advertiser, with an apparent unconsciousness of its own mischief making, trots out the "Cæsarism" bugbear as an excuse for the capture of Massachusetts; while the Journal and Globe more correctly detect a strong smell of whiskey in the political breeze. The Post, of course, sees only the dawn of a new era in statesmanship, in which the policy shops of New York will lend Fernando Wood to preside over an ideal Congress, and when the destinies of the Empire State will be guided by the great and good John Morrissey.

We are quite willing that all our neighbors shall enjoy their opinions in the premises, however conflicting they may be; but upon present advices we fail to perceive the special political significance of these elections. That the depression of business, lack of employment and other temporary ills from which we in common with the world at large are just now suffering, have caused thousands to vote blindly against the dominant party, we can plainly see, as we fully anticipated. That hundreds of thousands of Republicans failed to vote at all, owing to apathy induced by a lack of appreciation of the possibility of such a Democratic success, will prove, we believe, the most palpable explanation of the result. That it is a rebuke to "Grantism" seems hardly reconcilable with the theory of a "hard money" victory, as Grant proved himself an extremely "hard money" President by his veto; and the rebuke to "Butlerism" seems to lack significance, when the Essex member goes down with his party in Massachusetts.

We think our first characterization of the the event of Tuesday as a political Bull Run, will be more fully confirmed as we learn more of the facts. There is nothing in the attitude of the Democracy to warrant the belief that the people of this country have all at once become enamored of its most offensive dogmas, and no sensible man believes that when squarely presented the leading principles of the Republican party will fail of that overwhelming popular support which has been attested over and over again. Our opponents will find time for the flush of victory to cool in the more than a year which must elapse before they can begin their pranks in Congress, and in that same time the people will be very likely to do some serious thinking. The notion of a Bourbon restoration is too absurd to be entertained for a moment, and when the figures are footed up in the fall of 1876 the balance will again be found on the side of that party which during the past eighteen years has embodied the loftiest impulses of our people.

ONE OF THE CONSEQUENCES.

[From the Lewiston Journal.]

We predict that one of the first consequences of the general Democratic success of Tuesday, will be a material weakening of the national credit at home and abroad. United States securities will fall in the foreign markets, and will be returned home in large quantities. The eastern Democrats may spend columns of type and hours of talk to show that their party is not the party of repudiation. It is in vain. Their national platform in 1868 expressly declared that doctrine. In 1872 the monster was thinly veiled, as by a shawl, that its distorted proportions might not frighten away Liberal Republican voters. This year the shawl is flung to the winds, and repudiation has never found more blatant utterances than in the Democratic platforms of Ohio and Indiana.

The Pendletonian revival in these two States was the first check to the steady improvement in the national credit, begun when the Republican party took its firm and honest stand in regard to the national debt, in 1868. The large Democratic majorities in Ohio and Indiana have already depreciated our bonds abroad and have caused a deal of talk among European capitalists. English and German bankers are beginning to send home United States securities. Nor are they to be blamed in the least. Business is business, and when the flag that favors repudiation goes up to the top of the pole, business men will fight shy of the neighborhood.

This weakening of our credit on the strength of Democratic triumphs in two States only, has been so marked that it cannot be overlooked. It is of course too early by several weeks to see the effect of the elections of Tuesday on the financial standing of our Government, at home and abroad; but we cannot but believe that the blow will be a staggering one.

Much of the Democratic outcry in the recent elections was directed against the "salary grab" which was passed by a majority of Democratic votes united with a minority of Republican votes in both Houses. This, however, made no difference. It answered just as well in the Democratic papers, for the denunciation of the Republicans and the exultation of the Democrats. In the fifth district of Massachusetts, the Democrats made a similar exhibition of their consistency, when they refused to make a nomination, and united in the support of Gen. Banks, who voted for the increased compensation, made a strong speech in its favor and took and retained the back pay. Yet his opponent, who did neither, is in Democratic parlance "a salary grabber," and has been heavily defeated by Gen. Banks, in order to rebuke the "grabbing." This may not be precisely consistent in the ordinary acceptation of the word, but it is quite up to the Democratic standard.

Two of our Portland contemporaries indulged in the following editorial remarks on the day before election:

"These are the days when the partisan press is appealing to every man to vote and to impress upon all the weight that a single vote has had, points out that one vote secured a majority in the legislature of New York which then cast the vote of the State for Jefferson for President and elected him," etc.—Portland Press.

"The party papers in twenty-four States of the Union have made their last frantic appeals to the members of their respective political organizations to close up the ranks and prepare to march upon the enemy. Tuesday the battle of ballots was going on, and to-day we shall have the list of the killed and wounded."—Portland Advertiser.

As the above would indicate that neither of those papers regard themselves as belonging to the "partisan press," the idea is suggested that the Advertiser should connect itself with the Democratic State Committee in order to preserve the equilibrium.

Every one who reads the Democratic papers has noticed a fact to which Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, called attention in a recent speech in Boston, the similarity of the tone of these papers to their utterances just before the rebellion. The voices that reach us from the South sound like the echoes of 1861; the same defiant tone, the same supercilious assumption of superiority, the same threatenings, the same reliance upon the northern Democracy. North and South there is much that recalls the time that immediately preceded the outbreak of the rebellion.—Providence Journal.

A few days ago the N. Y. Herald said that if Tilden had led the attack on Fort Sumter it would not cost him a hundred votes. We are inclined to think, it would have gained him several thousand in New York city, if his "arrangements" had left anything doubtful in that locality. The World evidently is impressed with the same idea of the growing popularity of the "Lost Cause" among the Northern Democracy, as its appeal for votes on Tuesday consisted of a three-column denunciation of Governor Dix for having executed the order of President Lincoln ten years ago in suppressing the World for publishing the bogus proclamation. The Evening Post sharply ridicules this performance, and with a probable reference to the "business principles" on which the Herald says Tilden has conducted his campaign, closes its remarks as follows:

"Of all 'living upon the past' that has been recently attempted in the press or on the platform, the World's revival of its little personal war issue is the most preposterous. We believe that it will not influence a single vote—not even that of the editor of the World, who, unless he be very ungrateful, must already have resolved to vote for Mr. Tilden."

From the monthly report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, we find that Maine produces this year more of nearly all field crops than last year. The increase in wheat is 33 per cent.; rye, 20; oats, 27; barley, 7; potatoes, 1; beans, 1; peas the same. There is a decrease in corn and buckwheat. In the quality of the crop there is about as much improvement as in the quantity.

The New York Times furnishes the names, occupation and places of business of the candidates for Aldermen and members of the Assembly of the Democratic party of that city. Of the sixty-eight candidates in [illegible] sixty-five are venders of liquor.

THE LIQUOR AGENCY.

The following communication from the Women's Temperance Crusade, with reference to regulating sales at the City Agency, was presented to the Board of Aldermen Tuesday evening:

To the Mayor and Aldermen of Bangor:

The Women's Temperance Crusade appeal to you, the chief governing power of our city, in a matter which we feel vitally concerns both the cause in which we labor and the honor of your government. We are confident that we shall not appeal in vain to you, who are more bound than other citizens to uphold the dignity of our laws, when we ask your power to remedy an imperfection in the law which represents the conscience of our State in regard to liquor-dealing.

We are the loyal friends of the Prohibitory Law as it stands upon our statute-book, and we recognize the provision for Town Agencies for the sale of liquors for medicinal and mechanical purposes as an essential and necessary part of the law. But the framers of the law have left their work incomplete. They have imposed so great a burden of discrimination upon any man who may accept the post of Agent—they have demanded so much more insight than any man has—that to offer a person that office is to invite him to sure approbrium and enmity, and to give always a fresh occasion for contempt for the law. As law-loving citizens we deplore this result, and as temperance workers we ask you to remove from our path our greatest obstacle.

An Agency for the legal sale of alcohol for what the law recognizes as its legitimate uses, should be so different from other places where liquor is sold that the reproach of other rum-shops could not be cast upon it. It should aim singly at fulfilling the express intention of the law, and supplying suitable liquors for medicinal and mechanical purposes—not at all at becoming a source of money profit to the city. The Agent should not be entirely free to sell or to refuse to sell at his own will. Especially an Agency should not seek to be the secret channel of that final remainder of illicit traffic which even a faithful enforcement of the law would leave. For though the law that prohibits liquor-selling will be, for generations a partial failure, as are the other laws that prohibit theft and murder, yet those persons who seek its violation for imperious appetite's sake or thoughtlessly for household elegance, should find no shelter for their law-breaking intention in an institution like this.

It may be said that a strict enforcement of the law here would only drive the illegal liquor-traffic into other places. But, in the name of all that is honorable, let not the law be a party to its own dishonor. Let this, be a place to be respected. Created by law, let it be obedient to the law, and its purity above suspicion.

Such we ask you to endeavor to make our City Agency. We know the task is not an easy nor a simple one, but it is one that ought to be undertaken. We ask that you will cause a strict registration to be made of all purchases and sales by the Agent, which shall at all times be open to the inspection of that public whose servant the Agent is, and which shall at stated intervals, as once in one, two or three months, be carefully examined, and approved by an Auditor or a Commission appointed for that purpose. In order that the Agent may always and impartially ascertain the purposes of the purchases made from him, and that no offensive personality may attach to his efforts to do this, we ask that his sales may be made always conditional upon the satisfactory filling out of a blank schedule of questions, such as:

Who is the purchaser?
What is the purpose of the purchase?
What is the liquor?
What quantity of liquor?

The whole to be dated, certified and signed by the purchaser, and registered and inspected as above proposed.

It may be that these are not the best regulations that can be made to effect the purpose of confining the traffic at the Agency to its proper limits. We are aware that their success will depend much upon the care and uprightness of the Auditor who may approve the records. We shall be glad if your experience will suggest and carry out a better plan. We ask you only to consider what honesty and humanity demand, and invite you to do yourselves and our city the honor of instituting this needed reform.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Frequently medicines that stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion and creates a ravenous appetite. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a bilious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required. These medicines are prepared only by

J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E. corner Sixth and Arch streets, Phila.

And are for sale by all druggists and dealers.

Dr. Schenck will be at the QUINCY HOUSE, Boston, on the following WEDNESDAYS: October 7th and 21st, November 4th and 18th, and December 2d, 16th and 30th.

GRAND COURSE
—OF—
ENTERTAINMENTS.

I have the pleasure of announcing the following Course of Entertainments, which will, I trust, receive the distinguished favor and patronage of the public.

FIRST ENTERTAINMENT, Nov. 9th.
LECTURE BY
Charles Bradlaugh,
The Great English Orator.
Subject—The Republican Movement in England.

On the occasion of Mr. Bradlaugh's first lecture in Boston he was escorted to the platform by Hon. Charles Sumner, who sat upon his right, William Lloyd Garrison, who sat on his left, and Wendell Phillips, who introduced him. In his introduction after referring to the encouragement which America had received in her dark hours from witnessing the enthusiasm and sacrifices of certain European republicans, Mr. Phillips said

"You can imagine, then, the pleasure, the pride, with which I welcome to-night one of those eloquent, influential, and devoted of the European republicans—a man who Sir Charles Dilke said does the thinking for more minds, and has more influence than any other one man in England."

After the conclusion of Mr. Bradlaugh's address Mr. Sumner, Mr. Garrison, and Mr. Phillips, all pronounced it to be one of the grandest orations to which they had ever listened.

SECOND ENTERTAINMENT, Nov. 23d.
LECTURE & RECITATIONS BY
W. S. Andrews,
The Well Known Humorist.
Subject—Dialect Humor.

"He entertained his audience from the first sentence."—Iowa Paper.

His quotations from Mark Twain, the account of "Buck Fanshaw's Funeral" and "Tom W[illegible] and the Candy Pulling," called forth thunders of applause. At the close a vote of thanks for the wittiest lecture ever heard in Moline was carried by an unanimous standing vote.—Gazette, Iowa.

Mr. W. S. Andrews gave an example of his rare powers of imitation in representing the chief types of dialect in the most humorous aspects. He hit off his subjects to the life, holding his auditors in a continued ecstacy of laughter, and proving himself a true comedian by both birth and study. His lectures cannot fail to stir the most sedate to [illegible] mirth.—Home Journal, New York.

THIRD ENTERTAINMENT, Dec. 11th.
GRAND CONCERT BY THE Boston Philharmonic Club,
Consisting of the finest combination of Solo talent in America.
Their First Season.

BERNHARD LISTEMANN, Violin Soloist,
Late Violin Soloist of the celebrated Thomas Orchestra.
FRITZ LISTEMANN, Violin Soloist,
Late First Violinist of the Thomas Orchestra.
EMIL GRAMM, Violin Soloist,
Formerly of Thomas' Orchestra.
ADOLF BELZ, French Horn Soloist,
Formerly of the famous Royal Orchestra of the King of Wurtemburg.
RUDOLF HARTDEGEN, Violincello Soloist,
Late Solo 'Cellist of the Imperial Orchestra.
EUGENE WEINER, Flute Soloist,
Late of the Thomas Orchestra.
Assisted by MISS MAY BRYANT, Soprano.

The Boston Globe says of the opening concert: "The combination of talent which the club exhibits is certainly far ahead of anything Boston has ever seen, each member being a solo performer. The careful and conscientious playing of Mr. Bernhard Listemann while first violinist of the Thomas Orchestra won for him the reputation, in the opinion of the public which warranted his appearance in the capacity which he now occupies. Mr. Fritz Listemann is also violinist and pianist as well. Mr. Emil Gramm excels on the viola, Mr. Rudolph Hartdegen the violoncello, Mr. Eugene Weiner the flute and Mr. Adolf Belz the horn. With such talent, the concert could have been nothing less than superb."

FOURTH ENTERTAINMENT, Jan. 20th.
LECTURE BY
Rev. W. H. H. Murray,
of Boston. His new lecture entitled "Poverty."

Rev. Mr. Murray is well known, and the mention of his name is sufficient.

FIFTH ENTERTAINMENT, Feb. 11th.
Flotow's Opera of "Martha,"
By the Boston English Opera Company, consisting

MISS CLARA B. NICKELS, (Soprano,) as Lady Harriet.
MRS. FLORA E. BARRY, (Contralto,) as Nancy.
MR. CHAS. H. CLARK, (Tenore) as Lionel.
MR. E. S. PAYSON (Basso,) as Lord Tristam. Plunkett.
MR. J. A. HOWARD, Pianist.

The opera will be presented with full and elegant costumes, and in all respects, save chorus and orchestra, the work will be presented as upon the Italian or English stage. The story, with the exception of a few lines of dialogue, will be told entirely by music. This entertainment has met with universal success wherever it has been given, as the following notices will attest.

The Boston Opera Company is composed of excellent artists. Aside from their histrionic ability, they are musicians in the fullest sense of the word. It is something unusual to hear a quartette of vocalists so evenly balanced. The music of Martha seems to be peculiarly adapted to the Company, and to say that the opera is from beginning to end, given with a just spirit of conception and a faultless execution, is but to speak the conviction of every honest musician.—Gazette, St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 4, 1874.

We have but one thing to say of the rendition of the Opera of Martha last night, and that is that it was a grand and unparalleled success—a success in each and every feature. Everybody was immensely pleased.—Times, Leavenworth, Sept. 3, 1874.

POPULAR PRICES.

Season Tickets, with secured seats, at $2.00, to all parts of the hall, (except front row Balcony, which will be $3.00). Single entertainment with secured seat, 50 cents. Sale of tickets will commence at my Store, on Monday, Nov. 2d, at 4 P. M. Only season tickets will be sold for five days. After that seats may be secured for a single entertainment.

By special arrangement
Prof. ALLEN CURR, F. G. S.,
(Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature, London,) will lecture
THURSDAY & FRIDAY EVENINGS, Nov. 5th & 6th
at the ESSEX STREET CHURCH.

THURSDAY EVENING he will deliver his celebrated Oration, entitled

Risen from the Ranks, or How to get on in the World.

This is a lecture for the People, and especially for Young Men.

FRIDAY EVENING he will deliver his popular lecture entitled

Storming the Bastile, or, the Romance and Drama of the French Revolution.

This Lecture has been delivered more than three hundred times in England, Ireland, Scotland and America—always with unqualified approbation.

What is said of Prof. Curr:
London Morning Star—"Mr. Curr is very earnest, eloquent, pathetic and impassioned."
The Standard—"Very powerful and most eloquent as a speaker."
City Press—"Mr. Curr is a most effective and graceful orator."
Glasgow Herald—"He rivets the attention of his audience."
Charles Reade, the Novelist, says—"Your address was the most successful of the evening. It was wit, pathos and facts marvellously combined."
American papers and individuals speak of him with like approbation.

Admission, 25 cents each Lecture; 150 Reserved Sittings, 50 cents each Lecture. Tickets for sale at D. Bugbee & Co's, after Monday, Nov. 2d, and at the Church. 1t [illegible]

MAINE NEWS.

FROM BATH.

UNKNOWN MAN FOUND DROWNED.

BATH, Nov. 4.

The body of an unknown man about fifty years of age was found in the dock near the steamboat wharf in this city this morning. He was seen about the streets yesterday somewhat intoxicated, and said he belonged in Lewiston. He is an Irishman, and had on a blue tricot coat, black pants, and a [illegible] Scotch cap.

FROM PORTLAND.

LUMBER LADEN SCHOONER FOUND ABANDONED.

PORTLAND, Nov. 4.

Schooner Good Templar, McDonald, from a fishing cruise arrived to-day, and reports that thirty miles south of Cape Elizabeth she fell in with a derelict American schooner, of about seventy tons, name unknown, stern knocked out, full of water, dismasted, etc. She was partly lumber-laden, and the cargo had apparently been on fire. Towed her into House Island, where she now lies.

SUICIDE—DEMOCRATIC SALUTE.

Jane, wife of John A. Cutter, of Saccarappa, drowned herself in a cave in the canal yesterday afternoon.

The Democrats fired one hundred guns on the park this afternoon in honor of their victory.

FROM LEWISTON.

A BOLD BURGLAR.

LEWISTON, Nov. 10.

The house of Rev. Mr. Boothby, of this city, was entered about two o'clock this morning by a fellow, who put his hand over Mrs. Boothby's mouth, threatening to kill her if she made a noise. She screamed, and he escaped.

KILLED.

A little son of Henry Farrar was killed at [illegible] to-day by pulling a bale of cotton over upon him.

THE NEXT STATE FAIR.

The Trustees of the State Agricultural Society have voted to hold the next State fair in this city if grounds, halls, etc., are [illegible].

FROM BELFAST.

ILLUMINATIONS AND A SALUTE.

BELFAST, Nov. 4.

There are great rejoicings among the Democrats of this locality over the recent victories. Illuminations will be had this evening, and to-morrow a hundred guns will be fired.

A MAINE SHIP WRECKED.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.

A special cable despatch received in this city from Liverpool reports that the ship Adelia, of Yarmouth, Me., 1812 tons, Captain Dyling, from Antwerp for Cardiff, has been totally wrecked at Stockpole, Wales. The Adelia was built in 1869 and was owned principally in Yarmouth. She was valued at $100,000, and there was only $40,000 insurance on her. The rest is a total loss.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

The Electons!

Further But Incomplete Returns!

Estimated Democratic Majority in Congress!

NEW YORK.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS ON THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. The World says of the Democratic victories yesterday, that Grant's pretorian phalanx has been broken, his third term banner has been captured and reversed for a scoff and a hissing. The bummers of his army, the spoilers of the South, have been compelled to slacken the hold where the prey has not been wrested from their teeth. The political sorcerers discover that Mormonism has lost its power for a defence of the defenders of the Republic, the people at the ballot box, and yet this is only the first great battle in a long campaign, there are others to be won. It is a victory for free trade, for hard money and home rule."

The Times says the result in this and other Eastern States is not a surprise to anybody except a few persons in Washington. Since the last Presidential election party leaders have been deaf to advice and remonstrance, and nothing short of the events recorded to-day could open their eyes to the truth. The defeats of yesterday virtually begin with the [illegible], and were caused by mismanagement at the Treasury, the Sanborn frauds, the general series of blunders in all the public departments and just when the disappointment and irritation of the people became most marked, the administration organ at Washington began crying out for a third term. The Times thinks the party better not only change its policy, but its leaders. Of the result in this city, the Times says that almost the only security which the city now possesses against the creation of a new ring as corrupt as the old is, the good intentions of two men of very dubious character, and antecedents, John Kelly and John Morrissey.

The Herald attributes the defeat to Gen. Grant. It says the election is not only a victory both revolution and closes the political career of Gen. Grant. Even the splendid popularity of Gen. Dix could not save the administration in this State. Tilden's success shows what can be done by a candidate who conducts his canvass upon business principles.

The Tribune says the verdict of the country against Grantism is delivered. The people have decided that the administration is not worthy of confidence and ought not to be perpetuated.

The Sun believes Dix would have been elected Governor if he had not lacked the moral courage to free himself from his fatal connection with the Administration and the personal schemes of the President. The result is not anywhere a mere Democratic victory, it is a protest against an Administration which supported Jayne, enriched Sanborn, jobbed the salary bill, established Kellogg, and just put forward its claim for the perpetuation of power. The public had grown weary of six years' rule, remarkable for nothing but blunders and greed. The demand for an indefinite extension of such misrule was too much for good nature; it needed the sharp answer it has received. This is the end of Grantism. It is not a revival of the rebellion, not the definitive rehabilitation of the Democratic party. It simply eliminates Grantism from politics as an important factor, and leaves two parties confronting so evenly matched that both hereafter must be careful to make no mistakes. The future belongs to the one who shall earn it.

The Sun calls the election yesterday the death knell of Grantism. It gives the finishing blow to the third term for Grant. If he is not impeached by the next House of Representatives as he ought to be, there will be far more probability that he will not serve out his second term than that he will have a third. The result of the contest is due to the stay-at-home Republicans, and not so much to the Democratic gains as to the Republican losses.

The Republic says that when old Massachusetts deserts the Republican cause it is useless to indulge in explanation of the defeat of Dix in New York. The heaviest calamity is the reversal of the control of the House of Representatives in Congress. The Republic says that it is apprehensive of the effect of the election upon the credit and finances of the Government, and that they will prove unfavorable to the stability of trade and restoration of business confidence.

The Brooklyn Union in announcing the defeat of the Republicans in that city, attributes the change thereto to financial distress, dullness of trade, lack of work, and the prospects of a hard winter combined with the apathy of the party. It says all opportunity for reform is now lost in Brooklyn as even the Ring candidates for Commissioners of Charities have been elected. The three Democratic candidates for Congress from Brooklyn, Chittenden, Biles and Schumaker are elected. Nearly all the papers in the city rejoice in the defeat of Butler for Congress in Massachusetts.

The Post considers the Republican defeat yesterday due in a great measure to the wrong financial policy of the administration.

REPORTS FROM CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

ALBANY, Nov. 4. The Republicans from this county elect the county ticket and Adams, member to Congress; also two Assemblymen. Tilden's majority in the county is 2,500, and is said to be 50,000 in the State.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. The Democratic State ticket has a majority of 13,000 in Brooklyn. The Democratic Congressmen and seven Assemblymen are elected, also the District Attorney, County Auditor, County Treasurer, two Coroners, three Commissioners of Charities, Comptroller, City Auditor and eight of the Aldermen.

Hartshorn, Republican candidate for Congress, has about 1,000 majority in Saratoga.

NEWBURGH, Nov. 4. Beebe, Dem., is elected to Congress from the 11th district by over 8,000 majority.

The returns in Oswego county insure the election of William H. Baker, Rep., to Congress from the 24th district.

MASSACHUSETTS.

AN ERROR IN COUNT DISCOVERED—PETITION FOR A RECOUNT.

BOSTON, Nov. 4. An error in counting has been discovered, which increases Frost's plurality in the 4th district to 130, but on the other hand it is claimed that a certain individual in Ward 5 managed to have Benjamin Dean's name, who was the Democratic candidate in the 3d district, pasted over that of Judge Abbott, and 125 such ballots were cast. Judge Abbott's friends are circulating petitions for a recount in the entire district, and as the Board of Aldermen meet to-morrow at 4 o'clock, recounting will then probably take place. The annexation of Chelsea and Winthrop was defeated.

EXULTATION OVER THE ELECTION OF THOMPSON.

GLOUCESTER, Nov. 4. A salute of 100 guns will be fired this evening in honor of the election of Hon. Chas P. Thompson, member of Congress from the 6th district. Mr. Thompson is to deliver an address to his constituents this evening at the City Hall at half-past seven. The city is jubilant over the election.

THE FEELING IN BOSTON OVER THE ELECTION.

BOSTON, Nov. 4. The feeling in this city and section over the result of the election is profound and the interest to-day has been scarcely less than yesterday. The papers unite in ascribing the defeat to the abuses which have crept into the Republican State party and its apparent sympathy with corrupt "isms." They urge a cleansing process and predict a more glorious record than ever in the future as the result of temporary defeat. Butler's and Ayer's defeat is hailed with satisfaction even by the Republican press. Butler takes it cooly, and to-day said: "If the Republican party can stand its losses, I think I can bear my share."

DEMOCRATIC REJOICINGS.

The Democrats in various parts of the State celebrated the victory to-day by firing 100 guns. In Maine and New Hampshire salutes were fired. At Gloucester to-night, 100 guns were fired and Thompson made a speech at City Hall to his constituents. The struggle in the 4th district between the friends of Frost and Abbott promises to be lively. It is believed Frost's election will be maintained, though the Abbott party insist that a recount will elect him.

MISSOURI.

MEAGRE RETURNS—CLAIMS AND CONCESSIONS.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4. Not a precinct in this city or county has yet returned a full vote. Returns from the State are still very meagre and do not indicate the result. The Democrats, however, claim all the Congressional districts, except the 6th and 10th. On the other hand, the Republicans expect to carry the 1st district for Stewart the present incumbent, the 3d for Wingate, 5th for Seary, the 6th for Thrasher, the 7th for Lay, 9th for Thompson, and the 10th for Hyde, the present incumbent, conceding to the Democrats the 2d for Wells, the 4th for Hatcher, both present incumbents, the 8th for Franklin, the 11th for Clark, Jr., 13th for Buckner, both also present incumbents, with the 12th doubtful.

MICHIGAN.

HEAVY DEMOCRATIC GAINS—THE STATE TICKET REPUBLICAN.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 4. The Democratic gains throughout the State are immense. The Republicans do not claim over 5,000 majority on the State ticket. Williams, Dem., for Congress in the 1st district will have over 1,000 majority. The 2d is very close but is claimed for Waldron, Rep., by 200 majority. The 3d is claimed for Willard, Rep., by 1,500 majority. Potter's majority in the 4th district is estimated at 1,200. Williams, Rep., in the 5th, at 1,000. Partial returns give Durand, Dem., in the 6th, over 400 majority. In the 7th, Conger, Rep., is re-elected by probably 1,400 majority. The 8th is claimed for Bradley, Rep., by 1,200 majority.

FURTHER RETURNS—A POSSIBLE DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY IN THE LEGISLATURE.

In Wayne county which includes Detroit City and comprises the 1st Congressional district, the Democrats elect the county ticket with the exception of the clerk. Their majority for Governor is 558, on Congressman 1,037. The Democrats will have a large representation in the Legislature and possibly a majority. The result on Congressman in the 8th district is in doubt, and the full vote will be required to decide.

ILLINOIS.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET ELECTED BY A DECREASED MAJORITY.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4. Returns from the 1st, 2d and 3d Congressional districts are still incomplete, and the vote in all is so close that without full returns it is impossible to state positively the result in any of them. Lake county gives Farwell only 47 majority, but he claims a majority of 197 in Cook county, which will elect him. Harrison is probably elected over Ward in the 2d district, and the friends of both Smith and Caulfield are claiming their election in the 1st district. Reports from the State so far indicate the election of the Republican State ticket by a decreased majority and a light aggregate vote in most localities. The result of the Congressional election is so far unchanged from last night's reports.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

JACOBS, REPUBLICAN, ELECTED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4. A despatch from Seattle, Washington Territory, says Jacobs, Republican for Congress, is elected by over 500 majority.

WISCONSIN.

THE ELECTION OF SIX CONGRESSMEN CLAIMED BY THE REPUBLICANS.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4. The results as stated in last night's despatches are generally confirmed by later returns. The Republicans have elected to Congress William Caswell, Magoon, Kimball, Rust and McDill. The Democrats have elected Burchard and Lynde. The Democrats here claim Banck over Kimball for Congress. In the 6th District the Democrats concede a Republican majority on a vote by ballot in the Legislature. A despatch just received from the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee claims 6 Congressmen and 10 to 20 majority in the Legislature.

FLORIDA.

ELECTION OF REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN INDICATED.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 4. The returns from Florida come in slowly. Twelve counties are only partially heard from. The indications are that both districts will elect Republicans to Congress. There has been a heavy falling off in the white vote and a largely increased colored vote.

GEORGIA.

CONGRESSMEN ELECTED.

In the 2d district, Smith, Democrat for Congress, is elected by 1500 majority over Whitely, Rep. In the 1st district, Hartridge, Dem. is certainly elected over Bryant, Rep. In the 7th district, the result between Dabney, Dem. and Felton, Rep. is doubtful.

KANSAS.

LIGHT RETURNS—REPUBLICAN MAJORITIES.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4. Returns from Kansas are very meagre and do not indicate the results. Logan county reports a strong Republican majority; Labette county a small Republican majority; Franklin county gives Casey (Reform) for Governor, about 260 majority. The Republican county ticket is elected except Parkinson (Dem) for State Senator. Shawnee county has gone Republican by from 700 to 900 majority on the State ticket, and 500 to 600 for Brown, Rep. for Congressman. Neosho county gives Casey 500 majority and Goodin 300 majority; Bourbon county [illegible] Cobb, Representative for Congress [illegible] majority; Osborne for Governor fails [illegible] its ticket; Osage county has a Republican [illegible] majority of 230, and Saline county [illegible] Republican majority of 400.

PARTIAL RETURNS FROM CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

ST. LOUIS, N[illegible] The Kansas City Times has returns from [illegible] of the 15 counties in the 2d Congressional district of Kansas, showing in the aggregate 137 majority for Goodin, opposition candidate, to 275 for Cobb, Republican. Goodin will be elected by over 2,000 majority. Returns from the 3d district are coming in very slowly and thus far indicate a very close vote. In both districts by the returns it is shown that the Republican ticket two years ago of 32,000 has fallen off. Anderson county, the Republicans claim 300 majority. Barton county, with 2 precincts to hear from, shows a Republican majority of 175. Johnson county gives the Republican State ticket 300 majority. Douglas county gives a small Republican majority on State ticket and 175 majority for Congress. Pottawatomie county gives a Republican majority of [illegible]

INDICATIONS [illegible] TENNESSEE.

HEAVY DEMOCRATIC GAINS.

MEMPHIS, Nov. [illegible] The latest returns indicate the election of Casey, Dem., to Congress, by over 5,000 majority. Returns from West Tennessee show a heavy gain for the Democrats. Fayette and Hardeman Counties, hitherto Republican, give the Democrats majorities respectively of 1100. The Democrats are jubilant. The north and southern part of the State election was unusually quiet.

NEW JERSEY.

THE DEMOCRATS ELECT THREE CONGRESSMEN—COMPLEXION OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

NEW YORK, N[illegible] In consequence of the split tickets the returns from New Jersey are slowly coming in. No positive majorities in all cases are now obtainable. Judge Biddle is elected by about [illegible] majority. The Republicans elect four [illegible] es Sinnickson, Dobbins and perhaps [illegible] There is much trouble in the district in regard to the ballots on which his name is written "Wm." abbreviated, and 25 votes on either side will decide the election. The Democrats elect Ross, Hamilton, Teese and Hardenberg, a gain of three Congressmen. The State Senate stands as it did last year, each gaining and losing one. The Republican majority is seven. The House stands 39 Democrats to 21 Republicans, a Democratic gain over last year of 11. On the joint ballot the Legislature is Democratic by 11 majority, and will elect the United States Senator to succeed John P. Stockton.

CUTLER'S MAJORITY.

The latest returns from the 5th Congressional District of New Jersey show Cutler's majority over Wm. Walter Phelps to be 8.

THE CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION.

In the first district Clement H. Sinnickson, Rep., is elected; 2d, Samuel A. Dobbins, Rep., re-elected; 3d, Miles Ross, Dem., 4th, Robert Hamilton, Dem. re-elected; 5th, Augustus W. Cutler, Dem., 6th, Frederick H. Teese, Dem; 7th, Augustus A. Hardenburg, Dem. Bedle for Governor is elected by 12,000 majority.

KENTUCKY.

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMAN ELECTED.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4. Covington, Ky., yesterday gave Jones, Democrat, for Congress, 613 majority. The city voted in favor of license by 150 majority.

ALABAMA.

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET AND FIVE CONGRESSMEN ELECTED.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 4. Enough gains are reported to insure the election of the Democratic ticket by from 6,000 to 10,000 majority. Five Congressmen are certainly elected, and probably two others and there is a Democratic majority in the Legislature. More negroes voted the Democratic ticket than whites the Radical. Democratic gains are reported from every county except Sumpter.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

THE STATE REPUBLICAN BY 20,000 MAJORITY—REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN ELECTED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. A Columbia special says that the Chamberlain State ticket is elected by 20,000 majority. Four Republican Congressmen are certainly elected, Rainey, Rep., in the First District is probably elected. The Legislature will be Republican by a large majority in both branches. The vote in the State is very large. As far as heard from the election passed off quietly, except at Ridge Springs, Edgefield county, where the ballot boxes were destroyed and an election prevented by the opposition, and at Winsboro', Fairfield county, where a riot occurred, resulting in the shooting of three negroes, one of whom is reported dead.

PENNSYLVANIA.

THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN THE STATE ESTIMATED AT 10,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4. The following are further returns in Pennsylvania: Blair county, 200 Rep. majority; McKean county, 100 Rep. majority; Westmoreland county, 1,300 Dem. majority. In Philadelphia, Furman Sheppard, Dem. is elected District Attorney by over 1,000 majority; Dr. Kingston Goddard, Dem. is also elected Coroner. Complete returns of city Wards give Olmstead, Rep. for Lieut. Governor, 12,710 majority. All the other Republican city ticket is elected by about 12,000 majority. The returns from the interior are so incomplete that it is impossible to estimate the result as to the State ticket or the Congressional delegation. The Republican majority in the State is estimated at about 10,000. Kelly and O'Neil, Reps. and Randall, Dem. are elected to Congress.

THE STATE CLAIMED REPUBLICAN BY 15,000 MAJORITY—THE ELECTION OF 12 DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMEN CONCEDED.

The Press concedes the election of 12 Democratic Congressmen in the State, to 15 Republicans, a loss of 8, but claims the State by 15,000. A despatch from Towanda, claims the election of Joseph Powell, Dem. in the 15th district, an additional Republican loss.

In Berks county the Democratic majority is estimated at 6,000; in Clarion county it is estimated at 1200 and 1500 for Congress.

NEVADA.

THE RE-ELECTION OF GOVERNOR BRADLEY INDICATED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4. Latest returns from Nevada indicate the re-election of Bradley for Governor, and the Legislative ticket in favor of Sharon for U. S. Senator with a stand off between Ellis, Dem. and Woodbury Rep. for Congress. In Storey, Lyon and Ormsby counties the Republican Legislative ticket is elected, which will give Sharon 20 votes in the Legislature, this added to 9 Republicans who hold over makes 29, with indications that in other counties the Legislative ticket is likely to have Republicans sufficient to give Sharon the requisite 38 votes to elect him. The Republicans claim that Woodburn is elected to Congress with the vote for Governor doubtful as between Bradley and Hazlett.

CONGRESS.

THE ESTIMATED DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. Tables made up to-night indicate that the Democrats will have fifty-six majority in the United States House of Representatives.

GENERAL NOTES ON THE ELECTION.

The returns from Louisiana do not materially change the result as previously announced.

Hinton, Conservative, for Congress is elected in the 8th district, Virginia.

The Democrats hold a "rejoice" meeting in Gloucester last night. Thompson, member of Congress-elect, addressed it.

Later advices from South Carolina say that the contest for Governor is still in doubt with chances favoring Chamberlain.

The entire Congressional delegation from Georgia is probably Democratic.

It was reported late last night that Pennsylvania has gone Democratic by from 3000 to 5000 majority, and that the Congressional delegation stands: Republicans 11; Democrats 16.

The N. Y. evening journals make the House of Assembly stand: Democrats 72; Republicans 56. As the Republicans have only 4 majority in the Senate the Democrats have a majority on joint ballot.

A despatch from Prescott, Arizona, to-night says the election of Stevens, the Independent delegate to Congress is generally conceded.

Outside of the 1st, 2d and 3d districts in Illinois, the Congressional delegation is as follows: Republicans 6; Democrats 7; 1 each Independent Republican and Independent Democrat.

The Courier Journal's returns confirm the election of a full Democratic Congressional delegation from Kentucky.

Late returns indicate that the Wisconsin delegation will stand Republicans, 6; Democrats, 2.

The latest concerning Congressmen from Michigan is as follows: Republicans, 6; Democrats, 2; Independent, 1.

Returns received so far leave the election of Congressman in Nevada in doubt. Ellis, Dem., is probably elected. Bradley, for Governor, claims over 1000 majority. It is conceded that the Sharon Legislative ticket is elected.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

MATTERS IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 4. In the Circuit Court the libel suit of the Navy Paymaster vs. Hon. John S. Bailey for $51,000 damages, the jury returned a verdict for Carpenter of $600. The case goes to the law court on exceptions. All are surprised at the verdict. The next for trial is the case of State vs. William Crawford of Chester, a charge of forgery.

THE MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.

The old Mechanics' Association elected officers last evening as follows: Frank W. Miller, President; Lewis G. Davis, Vice-President; John Knowlton, Treasurer; Benjamin M. Parker, Secretary.

INDIANA.

COAL MINERS' STRIKE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4. The general strike of the Clay county coal miners, Monday, promises to be protracted, as both operators and miners are firm.

MASSACHUSETTS.

THE NEW RAILROAD.

LOWELL, Nov. 4. The Directors of the Boston and Maine railroad, members of the State Railroad Commissioners, and others, came to this city at noon over the new Lowell and Andover railroad, and will probably accept it to-morrow.

NEW YORK CITY.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. The Episcopal Convention adjourned last evening to meet in Boston in 1877. They issued a long pastoral letter, in which they denounce the present system of divorces, the profanation of the Lord's Day, participation in indecent amusements, and the indecencies enacted on the stage.

FIRE.

Rogers & Orr's dry goods store on Eighth avenue was burned out last night. Loss $20,000; insured $13,000. Lesser losses were sustained by proprietors of adjoining stores.

NEW JERSEY.

THE WALKISTS.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 4. Edward Moulton of Boston and W. E. Harding of New York, who are walking for a purse of $300, passed through here on their way to Philadelphia at 10.15 last night, ahead of time. Moulton won the match.

WASHINGTON.

THE SAFE BURGLARY CASE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. The safe burglary case was resumed to-day. Despatches which were sent by different parties were produced by a telegraph employe. Hand writing of Cluz and Shaler were testified to and several telegrams from Banfield to Whitney were submitted. The Court ordered that efforts be made to obtain the testimony of Colby, clerk of the Investigating Committee relative to the affidavits of Benton and Hayes made before said committee.

THE FOREST FIRES.

ALONG THE OHIO RIVER.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 4. Rivermen report that on the banks of the Ohio, from Ironton to Marietta, a distance of 100 miles, the forests are on fire and the smoke is so dense on the river as to render navigation impossible. The fires in the pine forests in Fairfield county and in the swamps near Akron are still raging fiercely.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—1 A. M.

PROBABILITIES.

For New England, generally clear and warm weather will prevail during the day, with south east to south west winds and falling barometer, followed by cloudy weather in the western portions of New York and Pennsylvania.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FRANCE.

EXPULSION OF SPANIARDS.

LONDON, Nov. 4. A special to the Times from Hendaye, says peremptory orders has been received from Paris for the expulsion of all Spaniards without distinction before Tuesday evening from the frontier towns on the right bank of Bidassoa, for fear that they might interfere in the conflict at Irun. The order spread consternation, many of those affected being without means of travelling.

SPAIN.

THE COMING ATTACK ON IRUN.

LONDON, Nov. 4. A despatch from Santander says that Don Carlos is determined to concentrate his forces in Biscay for the attack on Irun, knowing that General Lasema has gone to Madrid to tender his resignation. The Republican Government has only just begun to take measures to resist this movement. All the steamers in the harbor have been employed to carry 60,000 men to the relief of Irun.

ASIA.

A REBELLIOUS SON.

LONDON, Nov. 4. News has been received from Central Asia that Yakoob Khan, son of Shere Ali, Ameer of Afghanistan, has rebelled against his father, and is now within three days march of Candahar. A battle is imminent unless the Ameer agrees to the exclusion of British influence from Afganistan.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

The Carlists commenced the bombardment of Irun, yesterday.

The house of Allen Mouser, at New Holland, Ohio, was burned, Thursday last, and $30,000 in greenbacks in his desk consumed.

The saw mill and lumber yard of Livesey & Co., Newport, Ky., were burned, yesterday. Loss $30,000; insurance $8000.

George Major, Chief Burgess of Mahoney City, Pa., wounded in the recent firemen's riot, has since died.

Warren F. Shattuck, a well-known hardware merchant, was accidentally killed at his residence on Long Island, N. Y., Tuesday. He was fifty years old.

There was the heaviest fog in New York from six to nine o'clock, yesterday, ever known, completely suspending the ferry navigation.

The amicable settlement of the Formosan difficulty, between Japan and China, still appears doubtful, notwithstanding the more pacific tone of recent advices.

Chas. W. F. Burg, fourth Earl of Charlere, aged twenty-two years, died Monday at the residence of Charles B. Duncan in New York. His body was sent to England yesterday.

A Paris despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette says that the French Government has fixed upon Nov. 29 as the date for the election for the vacant seats in the Assembly, and for the renewal of the Municipal Councils.

—A correspondent informs us that a car load of dry cedar rails in train No. 17, took fire by sparks from the engine on Wednesday and was set off on the siding at Costigan. While the train men were trying to quench the flames, S. G. Higgins, Esq., came to the rescue with a fire extinguisher and saved the car and load, which would otherwise have been destroyed.

—WATERVILLE ITEMS. "Kappa" writes that the Fall term of the Waterville Classical Institute closes Friday, November 6, for a vacation of one week. Dr. G. C. Lorimer lectures in the Colby University Course, Thursday, November 6, subject: "Uneducated Poets of Scotland." The recipients of the Junior parts awarded by the Faculty of Colby University for the best scholarship during the Freshman and Sophomore years are: F. Q. Chase, of Fayette; A. W. Small, of Fall River, Mass.; G. F. Youngman, of Waterville; and J. B. Brown, of Machias.

THE AMHERST AFFAIR. We have received a letter from Mr. Emerson Orcutt, father of the young man who shot himself at Amherst recently on account of a love affair, stating that our report of the matter was somewhat exaggerated. He says the attentions bestowed upon the young lady were nothing more than ordinary and excited no attention beyond the usual gossip of a country town. On the evening in question the young lady called at the house of the young man's father, but refused to speak to the former, as she had heard that he had been talking lightly of her. This action and not jealousy, incited his rash act which was not committed in front of the young lady's house, but another into which he was carried after he shot himself. A half-brother of his took poison ten years ago in a fit of temporary insanity. The young man is spoken of in very favorable terms and has received much kindness from friends during his sickness. He is now recovering, and would have been nearly well at present had the patch which covered the ball been removed when the wound was first made.

THE TEMPERANCE TEMPEST.

COMPLETE PROGRAMME FOR THE MEETING TO-MORROW.

The indications are that the great rally of the temperance reformers to-morrow, will be one of the most successful events of the kind in the history of Bangor. In addition to a full turn out of all the local organizations there will be in attendance friends of the cause from all neighboring towns. The arrangements are now complete, and the following is the PROGRAMME.

Forenoon. The meeting will be opened at 9 o'clock with prayer, after which the whole congregation will sing "The Morning Light is Breaking," then the meeting will be opened for prayer until noon.

Afternoon. The meeting will commence at 2 o'clock with prayer, after which the whole congregation will sing "Antioch." A praise meeting will occupy the time till 5 o'clock.

Evening. The meeting will be opened at 6.30 o'clock with prayer, after which the congregation will sing "Rock of Ages." At 7 o'clock an escort of the Reform Club will wait upon the St. John's Catholic Total Abstinence Society and escort them to Norombega Hall, where they will be escorted by the officers of the Reform Club and take their seats upon the platform. After the reception, the meeting will be open for speaking, at which members of the Club, visiting societies and others, will give sketches from real life.

It is the design of the Reform Club that this shall be a grand Temperance camp-meeting.

The bells of the different churches will be rung at 8.30 A. M., 1.30 and 6 P. M., half an hour each time.

The hall will be open all day, so that the good work may be carried right along.

Pledges will be found at the desks of the secretaries at all hours of the day and evening. Come one and all.

DR. H. A. REYNOLDS, President Reform Club.
HENRY HILL, Secretary.

THE MEETING LAST EVENING.

The regular weekly meeting of the Reform Club was held at Temperance Hall last night, which was fully attended and alive with enthusiasm. The addition of fifty seven new members was a striking feature of the occasion, and while they were signing the constitution, the Messrs. B. H. Walker, John F. Stevens, G. S. Walker, and Capt. James M. Davis, occupied the time with stirring speeches. Three rousing cheers were given for the new members, and three more for the St. John's Catholic Total Abstinence Society, at the conclusion of which Mr. Joseph Taney, President of this Society, was called for, and made appropriate congratulatory remarks. Mr. W. S. McDonald, a new member, addressed the meeting.

On motion, by a rising, unanimous vote, Dr. H. A. Reynolds was made President of the Bangor Reform Club for life, and as President for life, he was inaugurated with three deafening cheers.

Mr. Sterrit, of Warren, responded to a call for a speech. Mr. Henry Hill, Secretary of the Club, was called for, and made a stirring speech, which was greeted with cheers. At a late hour the meeting adjourned.

NEW ENGLAND EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Commissioner of Education, in reviewing the statistics of higher education in his forthcoming report, says of New England educational institutions:

In the six New England States the city high schools are preparing 634 students, the academies are preparing 985 students, and the special preparatory schools and preparatory departments 2586 students, while the colleges themselves are preparing only 10.

In other words, the academies of New England are preparing 3571, or more than 83 in 100 of students being fitted for superior classical instruction. The case is very different in other portions of the Union. For example, in the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin the city high schools are preparing 1213 students, the ordinary academies 701; other preparatory schools, 731; and the preparatory departments of the colleges, 9472; that is to say, 12½ per cent. of this work is done by the academies and preparatory schools and 77½ per cent. by the colleges themselves; only about 10 per cent. are preparing in the city high schools. It thus appears that out of every 100 students preparing for college in New England, the colleges of New England are only burdened with the care of 1, while 83 out of every 100 students preparing in the Northwestern States mentioned must be drilled by the colleges.

It is obvious that until institutions of secondary instruction are able to supply a sufficient number of prepared students to the colleges or until the city high schools regularly give opportunity for acquiring the rudiments of classical training, American colleges in the West and South must directly or indirectly prepare at least 75 per cent. of their students. Of course there are exceptional cases in which the necessity does not exist, but this burden of secondary instruction borne by institutions chartered as colleges, though unavoidable under existing circumstances, is nevertheless a very grevious one. Such a condition of affairs tends to a low standard of scholarship in the colleges, impairs the energies of the teachers, and fails to arouse and foster a love of high and thorough culture among students.

Of the 949 students in New England reported as preparing for scientific colleges, 185 were in city high schools, 763 in academies and special preparatory schools, and 16 in preparatory departments of colleges; while, in the Northwestern States before mentioned, of the 1378 students thus preparing, 480 were in city high schools, 497 in academies and special preparatory schools, and 223 in preparatory departments of colleges.

Four Democratic candidates for Congress in Illinois were members of the Knights of the Golden Circle during the war.

$5000 FOR AN INCURABLE CASE.

From a Distinguished Lawyer of Boston.

MR. FRANK KINSMAN Dear Sir—I desire to say a word in behalf of your Adamson's Cough Balsam. I have been a sufferer from a very severe cough from the first of last November, trying almost many prescriptions without any considerable or permanent improvement, until the middle of March, when a friend brought this balsam to my notice. I tried the small sample bottle which Mr. Goodwin gave me, and I had no occasion to try any more, for within twelve hours from taking the first dose, the cough entirely left me. The result seemed little less than miraculous. I have sent more than a score of sufferers to Mr. Goodwin's, No. 35 Hanover st., for the remedy, and so far as I learn, in every instance with marked success.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. C. NUTTER.
[Firm Nutter & Squire, Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law, 20 Tremont st.]

[From Alonzo B. Weed, publisher of Zion's Herald, 35 Bromfield st., Boston.]

Several bottles of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam have been used in my family with the most gratifying results. We esteem it as one of the best of medicines.

Special Notice.

Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations.

The high reputation gained by ADAMSON'S BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bleeding of the Lungs and Consumption, has given rise to spurious compounds. The genuine ADAMSON'S BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM is prepared only by FRANK W. KINSMAN, Sole Proprietor. To protect yourselves from imposition, examine the bottle and see that the words "F. W. Kinsman, Druggist, Augusta, Maine," are blown in the glass of the bottle. $5000 for a better article.

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER

This elegant preparation is prepared from the true Jamaica Ginger, combined with choice aromatics and genuine French Brandy, and is vastly superior to every other Extract or Essence of Ginger before the public—all of which are prepared with alcohol by the old process.

CHOLERA MORBUS,

Cramps, Pains, Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, are instantly relieved by it. It will render an attack of Cholera Morbus impossible, if taken when the symptoms of this dangerous complaint first manifest themselves.

CRAMPS AND PAINS

Whether produced by indigestion, improper food, change of water or diet, too free indulgence in ice water, exposure to sudden changes of temperature, are immediately relieved by it. One ounce added to a gallon of

Ice Water

And sweetened, forms a mixture which, as a cooling, healthy, and refreshing Summer Beverage has no equal. Barrels of ice water, prepared in this way, may be drank without the slightest injury, and happy is the man who finds in this a substitute for spirituous liquors. Its value to the Farmer, Mechanic and Laborer, cannot be over estimated. It is so cheap as to be within the reach of all, so finely flavored as to be enjoyed by lovers of the choicest liquors.

DYSPEPSIA,

Flatulency, Sluggish Digestion, want of Tone and Activity in the Stomach and Bowels, Oppression after eating, are sure to be relieved by a single dose taken after meal.

$100 will be paid for a bottle of any other Extract or Essence of Jamaica Ginger if found to equal it in fine flavor, purity, and prompt medicinal effect. Largest, cheapest and best. Take no other until you have given it a trial.

Pierce's Rheumatic Cure

FOR RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA.

A Tried and Sure Cure.

This remedy is the result of the research of one of the proprietors who had been a great sufferer for years, and who had tried all the advertised remedies and the skill of many physicians without obtaining relief. A radical cure was obtained, and numerous similar cures effected among his friends and acquaintances, without an exception, have induced him to put it before the public. It was got up without a thought of making it an article of merchandise, but the numerous and increasing demands for it, as its merits have become known, have induced him to advertise it for the benefit of sufferers like himself.

It is an infallible remedy, if persistently used, for those painful maladies of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, as testimonials, too abundant to give in this advertisement, will show. Among these testimonials are those of Mrs. Judge Appleton, E. M. Talcott, J. M. Morrill, (foreman of Hinckley and Holt's Foundry) C. H. Emery, and others of Bangor; W. J. Mitchell, (of the Eveleth House, Moosehead Lake,) Alvardo B. Orcutt, of Eddington, a sufferer for fourteen years, and at times helpless, having tried the best known remedies and several skillful physicians without effect, after using seven bottles, has been restored to health, and gives his grateful testimonial.

It is an internal remedy, acting on the blood, freeing it from impurities and imparting free and healthy action to the system. It may be used by children and those of the most delicate constitution with perfect safety. Full directions with each bottle.

Price per bottle $1.00. Liberal discount to the trade. For sale by Druggists generally.

AN INDIAN-SUMMER DAY.

BY MARY E. DODGE.

Last night the frost laid silver webs
Above the woof of green
That mantles yet the sweet brown earth;
Glistened the starry sheen
In morning's flood of golden light,
As down the path we walked,
I, just as glad as seemed the day,
To listen while he talked.

He talked as only poets talk
When Nature stirs the heart
To speak the simple thought that takes
The shape of perfect art;
Talked only as a poet talks,
Whose soul embraces all
The true, and fair, and beautiful—
Always its willing thrall!

Yes—only as the poet talks,
To one whose answering thought,
Through deep sea wells of sympathy,
The truth has upward brought;
And so, though we had never met
As trusted friends till then,
I think we cannot ever meet
As careless friends again.

Too soon we came to where the path
Divided—this way one
And that the other called to go,
A cloud passed o'er the sun—
A gentle cloud—which only said,
"Ah, me! who knows if ever
Two parting friends shall meet the same
When thus their ways dissever?"

But, all the day a tropic haze
Has brought me memories fair,
As though a southern plumaged bird
With color warmed the air,
So radiant his sympathy,
So strong its wing to fold
From chilling winds the heated hopes
That glimmer in its gold

And now as on the bridge I stand,
And wait the coming stars,
While all the purple of the West
Is flushed with sunset bars,
And overhead a rounding moon
Looks down with smiling face,
I think how much of life is touched
With Indian Summer's grace

THE STORY OF AN OLD YOUNG MAN.

BY LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON.

(Concluded.)

"Then will you come? I think I can make life a different thing for you from what it ever has been. You shall know what it is to be loved by a man with a man's heart in him. Will you come, or will you settle back on the old life, and send me away alone to curse the fate that ever brought me to that knowledge of you?"

He stopped and then she could hear his heart beat in the silence. Temptation beset her sorely. How sweet this love would be of which he spoke—this love for which she had so hungered—this passionate, lover's love, which Joseph Hannaford would never give her. She had a temperament to which love was the supreme thing. It was her one idea of Heaven. But she had not gone far enough away from the innocence of childhood for her guardian-angel to have forsaken her. Clearly, as if some human voice had spoken it, she heard a whisper, which came again and again and would be obeyed—"Pray!" She got up at last, and, saying to Hugh Waring nothing but "Wait," went away to her own room.

In the darkness she did not see her husband, who sat there in an arm-chair, too tired to care for a light, and waiting for her. He would have spoken, but somehow he felt the excitement of her mood, and was silenced by it. She knelt down, and tried to obey the voice. But she could not collect her thoughts and only two words would come, over and over again—"Help, Lord, help!"

Vaguely, Joseph Hannaford comprehended that she was passing through the crisis of an agony such as he, in all his placid life had never experienced or witnessed. Some intuition withheld him from trying to comfort her—made him feel how idle would be any consolation which he could offer; but when at last she left the room, he arose and stole softly after her. A deep yearning tenderness for her filled his soul full. He thought he had never loved her half so well in his life; and what this trouble was which was breaking her heart he must know.

Down-stairs she went, and into the dim room where Hugh Waring waited for her; and her husband stood just outside the door, and listened breathlessly for her words. She spoke at first with a certain feverish eagerness, as if she doubted her own strength, and must hurry through with what she had to say before it failed her; but, as she went on, a deeper and calmer earnestness grew into her words.

"Your tenderness," she said, "has made life very sweet to me. I never knew what it was before to have a friend who cared for the same things I cared for; and no one else was ever so gentle to me as you have been! I did not know how much you were to me until you spoke of going away. I want love more than I want any other earthly thing; but I do not think this is love which we feel for each other. You pitied me because you saw that my life was a disappointment—that I was lonely, and unreconciled to my fate; but I do not believe you would have chosen me out of a world full of women, if you had found me free and happy. As for what I feel for you—but I will not talk about that—I have my duty to do. And then I did love my husband first. If he had loved me in the way I once fancied that he did, I should have gone on feeling the same for him forever. And I know I could love him even now, if he cared to be again my lover. In any case, I will be true to him. I will not make myself unfit to meet my dead father and mother again in Heaven. I do believe that you would be faithful and tender, but your best tenderness could not console me if I had lost for your sake my own soul; and be a burden to you presently."

"I think not—I think never!" Waring cried passionately. "Oh Carrie! I could make you happy."

"Not in despite of God," she said slowly, and then turned away.

Standing still in the shadow, her husband watched her go up-stairs, and then he stole noiselessly out-of-doors, for he was wise enough not to go to her.

What in him was really true, and noble, and worthy of a woman's loving, came out now, as never before. He looked straight into his own heart, with eyes which tried to be as just as the justice of heaven.

He did not stop to blame Hugh Waring, as a hotter-tempered man might have done. He understood just how Carrie's sad, sweet face, and lonely seeming life, had touched the man's heart, and so forgave him, even for the rashness which would have made bad worse.

As for Carrie herself, he seemed to have only now begun to love her at all! He opened his eyes and saw what he had been doing when he took into his keeping a mere girl, this young creature whose natural element was love, and then deliberately starved her—expected her to be as self-controled and independent as his mother had been. How recklessly he had been throwing away his pearl of great price! But what if it were not altogether to late for him to recover it? She had loved him once—she had said that she could love him, even now, if he cared again to be her lover. Did he not care? His pulse began to throb, very much as if he were not an old young man. If love tender and patient could win her back, she should yet be more his than ever, please Heaven!

He would never pain her, he resolved, by telling her what he had heard. If ever she felt near enough to him again to confide in him, her confidence should come unforced and unsought. But he would use every power which God had given him to make her happy. He would not be too proud to knock again at her heart's door; would any tender voice ever bid him enter?

At last he saw from the covert where he stood with eyes grown used to the darkness, Hugh Waring come out and walk rapidly down the path, as if trying to escape from himself. Then he went into the house, lit a light, and looked at the clock. It was midnight; now at last he would go up-stairs to his wife. He found her lying, with white, still face, upon the scarcely whiter pillow. He knew that she was not asleep; but he saw that she wished him to think her so, and respecting her wish, he got to bed silently.

The next day, making some excuse of just received letters, Hugh went away. For one moment, just before he left, he managed to see Mrs. Hannaford alone, though she had carefully avoided him all the morning.

"Do I bid you good-by forever?" he asked, looking into those sad entreating eyes of hers which had wrought his woe.

"I think that is best," she said gently, "unless you can come back as much my husband's friend as mine."

He bent over her hand, and left on it the kiss he had never dared to press upon her lips.

"I want to tell you that you have done right. You have refused me the only thing I cared for in life. You have sent me out into the world a wayfarer, without a hope or an interest, but you have done right. We shall be thankful, both of us, when we come to death and judgment. God bless you, and forgive me."

He was gone before she could answer him, and she heard him saying good-by to her husband in the yard. Was she never to see that handsome, loving face again in all time?—never to hear again that voice which had spoken to her such strong tenderness? Was it her destiny to go on in the old, cold life, till she was an old, old, woman? Why, she might live to be eighty—people did sometimes and she was only eighteen now. The late July was warm and bright out of doors, but she felt strangely cold. She got a shawl and wrapped herself in it, and then some idle tears, of which she was hardly conscious, fell till they had somehow eased by a little work.

Mr. Hannaford was wise enough to stay away from her all the afternoon. Before tea she tried to make herself fresh and bright for him. She would not half do her duty.

When the meal was over, she saw with surprise that her husband's favorite fast horse and light wagon stood in front of the gate.

"Will you go over to Danbury with me?" he asked, following the direction of her eyes.

"Can you get away? I thought at this time of day you were always so busy."

"Yes, but the busiest days are over. The hay crop is almost all in. The rest can get along with the work without me, and I should like to see a little more of my wife, now that I have her all to myself again!"

She tripped up-stairs for her shawl and her turban hat, feeling more light of heart than she would have believed, two hours ago could be possible.

Have I made you understand aright, I wonder, this little woman—not uncommon type of character? If she had a stronger and deeper individuality, she would have been less easy to content. Now she asked only for enough love. She had a nature which needed summer days and sunshine—lips ripe for kisses; fond, smiling eyes; clinging fingers.—Love, per se, was more to her than any particular lover; and, as she said, she had loved her husband first. But love she must have, or life to her was utterly without hope or favor. She had intellect enough to understand Waring's tastes; but intellect was not her specialty. She had little originality, and could never make of her mind a kingdom.—But she was pure and sweet, with a native-born conscientiousness which would be likely to carry herself safely through places which might have been full of peril for stronger women; and a capacity for self-devotion, if she could only be loved tenderly enough to call it forth, which in itself was indefinite.

She remembered how sad Waring might be at this hour, and felt herself an unfeeling monster because her heart was growing so glad, as she bowled along by her husband's side over the pleasant country roads, with the sunset light upon the fair new-mown fields, and the cloud-opening gates of flame into the celestial kingdom.

When they reached home at last, after moon and stars had risen, her husband lifted her out and held her a moment in his arms while he kissed her. She felt herself blushing like a girl. As for him, in this strife to win her heart anew there was more of excitement and endeavor than he had ever known in the easy days when he was her lover. Having felt himself near losing her, he began to understand how much keeping her was worth his while.

She went in-doors quite at fault about herself. Whom then did she love? Could it be that she was so weak as to be constant only to what was present? Had Hugh Waring's strong tenderness taken such slight hold on her light nature that she could be happy with another on the very day he had gone away sorrowful? Then she reflected that this other was her husband, in whom only her happiness ought to lie. What then? She would not think out her puzzle. Instead with hope young again in her heart, she made her hair smooth, her dress tasteful, and went down stairs to sit in the moonlight beside the man from whose coldness, only last night, she had been tempted to flee away.

Do not ask me for a running commentary on my story. I show you a woman as she was. If you cannot comprehend her, or account for moods, be sure that you are no worse off than she was, for she did not at all comprehend herself.

For a few days, her husband's newly born devotion made her happy. Then a reaction came over her and she was wretched. The better satisfied she became with him, the more dissatisfied she was with herself. Not a caress did he give her, that she did not think—"Would he do this, and this, if he knew how near I had come to loving some one else?" She grew at last to shrink secretly from every demonstration of his love, and he, watching her keenly, felt that somehow the past was raising a barrier between them, and wondered sadly if his best endeavors were to fail, and this wife of his heart was never again to be fully and freely his own.

As for her, she grew thin and pale. Her bright lips were bright no longer, her eyes had dark rings under them. Night after night she lay awake and thought, and thought, coming always to the same conclusion—she had no right to his love until he knew all; and if he knew all, he himself would withdraw it from her. She was not ready to trust him, because he had been so old for his years, so fixed in his ways, so unimpassioned, during all the first months of their married life, that she could not believe it would be in his power either to understand or to forgive her. So she went on, bearing her burden through slow days and silent nights, until the anniversary of her wedding day came round.

Through the day, her uncle and his wife were with them, and a few other friends.—The little festival was of the husband's planning, and the wife felt that in barely living through it, in hearing and answering congratulations upon her happy fate, she had gone to the uttermost limit of her endurance. The guests wondered at this white, still wraith, this unwifelike bride, this woman whom a single year seemed to have turned to stone. Joseph Hannaford's heart sank within him. Was nothing, then, left for him but to plant rosemary over the grave of his hopes? How thankful he was when the last guest was gone. He came then and stood beside his wife, and drew a ring from his pocket.

"I don't know that you will care for it now," he said; "but I got this ring to give you as the token of a new bridal. If you could love me to-day as well as you did one year ago, I think I could make you happier, for I understand better what love means to women."

She drew away the hand he had taken. A brilliant color flamed in her cheeks, and her heart throbbed chokingly, but a courage which was half desperation shone from her eyes. She spoke passionately.

"You must not put that ring on; you must never say one tender, loving word to me again until you know me just as I am."

Then, told clearly, steadily, unfalteringly, without reserve or concealment, her story came. It was the whole story of her whole married life; her disappointment because he did not love her enough; her patient, little endeavors to please him, which bore no fruit; then Hugh Waring's interest and tenderness; and, last of all, his love, and the strong temptation it was to her. And then she cried, almost with a sob—"It has nearly killed me to have you so good and kind as you have been lately. Every fond word or deed has pierced me like a knife, for I have thought how different you would be if you knew it all. And the more I loved you, the more wretched I was."

He took her close into his arms, in a clasp which meant peace, and pardon, and above all, love. He bent over her, and said fondly—"Dear, I did know it all, ever since the night before Waring left, and it never turned me from you for a single hour. I blamed myself too much to blame you."

She felt as if her heart, which had been breaking with woe before, would burst now with rapture.

"Joe," she cried, "you are divine!"

"No, dear, very human; but I love you.—Are you ready to wear my pledge?"

So, in the gathering darkness, he slipped his ring upon her finger, and in the joy of a new bridal they two were made one.

The next day she wrote two lines, which she sent to an address Hugh Waring had given her, the direction of his New York bankers:—

"MR. WARING—I am, and always shall be, your faithful friend; but I love my husband."

This little messenger was sent after him over seas, to find him by Rhine or Rhone, wherever his errant steps were wandering.—Let us hope, when he read it, it cured his heartache.

"If she be not fair for me,
What care I how fair she be?"

JOSH BILLINGS'S ALMANAX FOR 1875.—The following are a few of the gems from this annual:

Half the discomforts of life is the result of getting tired of ourselves.

People of good sense are those whose opinions agree with ours.

Intellect without judgment is what ails about one-half the smart people in this world.

To lie about a man never hurts him; but to tell the truth about him sometimes does.

Christians seem to fite under cover, but the devil stands boldly out and dares the world to single kombat.

Reason often makes mistakes, but conshience never dus.

The man who is allways confessing his sins and never quitting them, is the most onsartin [illegible] I kno ov.

The man who has set himself to work at ennything on 5 minits notiss, has got one of the best trades I kno ov.

I hav made up mi mind, that human happiness konsists in having a good deal to do, and then keep a doing it.

Young man, yu better be honest than cunning, and it is hard work to be both.

My experience in life thus far has been that I went in to it [illegible] and hav [illegible] of enything left over.

A boy all things [illegible] should be honest and independent; if these two things don't enable him to make a figger in this world, he is only a cypher, and never was intended for a figger.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES,

Passed at the First Session of the Forty-third Congress.

TREATY between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru. Friendship, Commerce and Navigation. Concluded September 6, 1870. Ratification advised by Senate March 31, 1871. Ratified by President April 11, 1871. Ratified by President of Peru May 23, 1874. Time for exchange of ratifications extended June 6, 1873. Ratifications exchanged at Lima May 28, 1874. Proclaimed July 27, 1874.

The time originally fixed for the exchange of the ratifications having unavoidably elapsed, was extended, by a formal agreement of the parties, to November 6, 1874, within which time that ceremony took place, in the usual form.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation, between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, was concluded and signed by their respective Plenipotentiaries at Lima on the sixth day of September in the year eighteen hundred and seventy, the original of which treaty, being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word, as follows.

Treaty of friendship, commerce, and navigation between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru.

The United States of America and the Republic of Peru, being equally animated with the desire to render firm and permanent the peace and friendship which have always so happily subsisted between them, and to place their commercial relations upon the most liberal basis, have resolved to fix clear and precise rules, which shall in future be religiously observed between the two nations, by means of a treaty of friendship, commerce, and navigation. To attain this desirable object, the President of the United States of America has conferred full powers on Alvin P. Hovey, the accredited Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the said State to the Government of Peru; and the President of Peru has conferred like full powers upon Dr. Jose Jorge Loayza, Minister of Foreign Affairs, who, after exchanging their respective full powers, found to be in good and true form, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles

ARTICLE I.

There shall be perfect and perpetual peace and friendship between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, and between their respective territories, people, and citizens, without distinction of persons or places.

ARTICLE II.

The United States of America and the Republic of Peru mutually agree that there shall be reciprocal liberty of commerce and navigation between their respective territories and citizens, the citizens of either republic may frequent with their vessels all the coasts, ports, and places of the other, wherever foreign commerce is permitted, and reside in all parts of the territory of either, and occupy the dwellings and warehouses which they may require, and everything belonging thereto shall be respected, and shall not be subjected to any arbitrary visits or search. The said citizens shall have full liberty to trade in all parts of the territories of either, according to the rules established by the respective regulations of commerce, in all kinds of goods, merchandise, manufactures, and produce not prohibited to all, and to open retail stores and shops under the same municipal and police regulations as native citizens, and they shall not in this respect be liable to any other or higher taxes or imposts than those which are or may be paid by native citizens. The citizens of either country shall also have the unrestrained right to travel in any part of the possessions of the other, and shall in all cases enjoy the same security and protection as the natives of the country wherein they reside, on condition of their submitting to the laws and ordinances there prevailing, they shall not be called upon for any forced loan or extraordinary contribution for any military expedition, or for any public purpose whatever, nor shall they be liable to any embargo, or be detained with their vessels, cargoes, merchandise, goods, or effects, without being allowed therefor a full and sufficient indemnification, which shall in all cases be agreed upon and paid in advance.

ARTICLE III.

The two high contracting parties hereby bind and engage themselves not to grant any favor, privilege, or immunity whatever, in matters of commerce and navigation, to other nations, which shall not be immediately extended also to the citizens of the other contracting party, who shall enjoy the same, gratuitously if the concession shall have been gratuitous, or on giving a compensation as nearly as possible of proportionate value and effect, to be adjusted by mutual agreement, if the concession shall have been conditional.

ARTICLE IV.

No higher or other duties, or charges on account of tonnage, light houses or harbor dues, pilotage, quarantine, salvage in case of damage or shipwreck, or any other local charges, shall be imposed in any ports of Peru, on vessels of the United States, than those payable in the same ports by Peruvian vessels, nor in any of the ports of the United States by Peruvian vessels, than shall be payable in the same ports by vessels of the United States.

ARTICLE V.

All kinds of merchandise and articles of commerce which may be lawfully imported into the ports and territories of either of the high contracting parties in national vessels may also be imported in vessels of the other party without paying other or higher duties or charges, of any kind or denomination whatever, than if the same merchandise and articles of commerce were imported in national vessels, nor shall any distinction be made in the manner of making payment of the said duties or charges. It is expressly understood that the stipulations in this and the preceding article are to their full extent applicable to the vessels, and their cargoes, belonging to either of the high contracting parties arriving in the ports and territories of the other, whether the said vessels have cleared directly from the ports of the country to which they appertain, or from the ports of any other nation.

ARTICLE VI.

No higher or other duties or charges shall be imposed or levied upon the importation into the ports and territories of either of the high contracting parties of any article, the produce, growth or manufacture of the other party, than are, or shall be, payable on the like article, being the produce, growth, or manufacture of any other country, nor shall any prohibition be imposed upon the importation of any article, the produce, growth, or manufacture of either party, into the ports or territories of the other, which shall not equally extend to all other nations.

ARTICLE VII.

All kinds of merchandise and articles of commerce which may be lawfully exported from the ports and territories of either of the high contracting parties in national vessels, may also be exported in vessels of the other party, and they shall be subject to the same duties only, and be entitled to the same drawbacks, bounties, and allowances, whether the same merchandise and articles of commerce be exported in vessels of the one party or in vessels of the other party.

ARTICLE VIII.

It is hereby declared that the stipulations of the present treaty are not to be understood as applying to the navigation and coasting trade between one port and another, situated in the territory of either contracting party, the regulation of such navigation and trade being reserved respectively by the parties according to their own separate laws. Vessels of either country shall, however, be permitted to discharge part of their cargoes at one port open to foreign commerce in the territories of either of the high contracting parties, and to proceed with the remainder of their cargo to any other port or ports of the same territories open to foreign commerce, without paying other or higher tonnage-dues or port charges in such cases than would be paid by national vessels in like circumstances; and they shall be permitted to load in like manner at different ports in the same voyage outward.

ARTICLE IX.

The Republic of Peru, desiring to increase the intercourse along its coasts by means of steam navigation, hereby engages to accord to any citizen or citizens of the United States, who may establish a line of steam-vessels to navigate regularly between the different ports of entry within the Peruvian territories, the same privileges of taking in and landing freight and cargo, entering the by-ports for the purpose of receiving and landing passengers and their baggage, specie and bullion, carrying the public mails, establishing depots for coal, erecting the necessary machine and workshops for repairing and refitting the steam vessels, and all other favors enjoyed by any other association or company whatsoever. It is furthermore understood between the two high contracting parties that the steam vessels of either shall not be subject in the ports of the other party to any duties of harbor, or other similar duties, whatsoever, than those that are or may be paid by any other association or company.

ARTICLE X.

For the better understanding of the preceding articles, and taking into consideration the actual state of the commercial marine of Peru, it is stipulated and agreed that every vessel belonging exclusively to a citizen or citizens of the said republic, and of which the captain is also a citizen of the same, though the construction of the crew is or may be foreign, shall be considered, for all of the objects of this treaty, as a Peruvian vessel.

ARTICLE XI.

The merchants, commanders or masters of vessels and other citizens of either contracting party, shall be wholly free to manage their own business and affairs in all ports and places within the jurisdiction of the other, or to commit their business and affairs to the management of any person whom they may choose to appoint as agent, factor, consignee, or interpreter. They shall not be restrained in the choice of persons to act in such capacities, or be compelled to pay any salary or remuneration to any one whom they do not wish to employ. Absolute freedom shall be given, as well with respect to the consignment and sale of their merchandise and articles of commerce, as to the purchase of their returns, unloading, loading, and sending off their vessels. The buyer and seller shall have full liberty to bargain together and fix the price of any merchandise or articles of commerce imported into or to be exported from the territories of either contracting party, the regulations of commerce established in the respective countries being in every case duly observed.

ARTICLE XII.

The citizens of either of the high contracting parties shall have the full power and liberty to dispose of their personal and real estate and effects of every kind and description, within the jurisdiction of the other, by sale, donation, testament, or otherwise; and their heirs or representatives, being citizens of the other party, shall succeed to the said personal and real estate and effects, whether by testament or ab intestato, and may take possession of the same themselves or by others acting for them, and dispose of the same at their pleasure, paying such dues only as the citizens of the country wherein said estate and effects may be shall be subject to pay in like cases.

ARTICLE XIII.

If any vessel belonging to the citizens of either of the high contracting parties should be wrecked, suffer damage, or be left derelict on or near the coasts, within the territories of the other, all assistance and protection shall be given to such vessel and her crew; and the vessel, or any part thereof, and all furniture and appurtenances belonging thereto, together with all the merchandise which shall be saved therefrom, or the produce thereof, if sold, shall be faithfully restored to the owners or their agents, they paying only the expenses incurred in the preservation of the property, together with the rate of salvage which would have been payable in like case, by national vessels; and it shall be permitted for them to unload the merchandise and effects on board, with the proper precautions to prevent their illicit introduction, without exacting in such case any duty, impost, or contribution whatever, provided the same be exported.

ARTICLE XIV.

When through stress of weather, want of water or provisions, pursuit of enemies or pirates, the vessels of one of the high contracting parties, whether of war, (public, or private,) or of trade, or employed in fishing, shall be forced to seek shelter in the ports, rivers, bays, and dominions of the other, they shall be received and treated with humanity, everything shall be allowed for the completion of repairs, and while any vessel may be undergoing them, its cargo shall not unnecessarily be required to be landed either, in whole or in part; all assistance and protection shall be given, to enable the vessels to procure supplies, and to place them in a condition to pursue their voyage without obstacle or hindrance.

ARTICLE XV.

All vessels, merchandise and effects belonging to the citizens of one of the contracting parties, which may be captured by pirates, either on the high seas or within the limits of its jurisdiction, and may be carried into or found in the rivers, roads, bays, ports, or dominions of the other, shall be delivered up to the owners or their agents, they proving, in due and proper form, their rights before the competent tribunals; and it is understood that the claim thereto shall be made within two years by the owners themselves, their agents, or the Agents of the respective Governments.

ARTICLE XVI.

The high contracting parties promise and engage to give full and perfect protection to the persons and property of the citizens of each other, of all classes and occupations, who may be dwelling or transient in the territories subject to their respective jurisdiction; they shall have free and open access to the tribunals of justice for their judicial recourse, on the same terms as are usual and customary with the natives or citizens of the country in which they may be; and they shall be at liberty to employ, in all causes, the advocates, attorneys, notaries, or agents, of whatever description, whom they may think proper. The said citizens shall not be liable to imprisonment without formal commitment under a warrant signed by a legal authority except in cases flagrantis delicti, and they shall in all cases be brought before a magistrate or other legal authority for examination within twenty-four hours after arrest, and if not so examined the accused shall forthwith be discharged from custody. Said citizens, when detained in prison, shall be treated, during their imprisonment, with humanity, and no unnecessary severity shall be exercised toward them.

ARTICLE XVII.

It is likewise agreed that perfect and entire liberty of conscience shall be enjoyed by the citizens of both the contracting parties in the countries subject to the jurisdiction of the one or the other, without their being liable to be disturbed or molested on account of their religious belief, so long as they respect the laws and established usages of the country. Moreover, the bodies of the citizens of one of the contracting parties who may die in the territories of the other shall be buried in the usual burying grounds, or in other decent and suitable places, and shall be protected from violation or disturbance.

ARTICLE XVIII.

The citizens of the United States of America and of the Republic of Peru may sail with their vessels, with entire freedom and security, from any port of the ports or places of those who now are, or hereafter shall be, the enemies of either of the contracting parties, whoever may be the owners of the merchandise laden in the said vessels. The same citizens shall also be allowed to sail with their vessels, and to carry and traffic with their merchandise, from the ports and places of the enemies of both parties, or of one of them, without any hindrance, not only to neutral ports and places, but also from one port belonging to an enemy to another enemy's port, whether they be under the jurisdiction of one power or of several. And it is agreed that free ships shall give freedom to goods, and that everything shall be deemed free which shall be found on board the vessels belonging to the citizens of either of the contracting parties, although the whole lading, or a part thereof, should belong to the enemies of either, articles contraband of war being always excepted. The same liberty shall be extended to persons who may be on board free ships, so that said persons cannot be taken out of them, even if they may be enemies of both parties, or of one of them, unless they are officers or soldiers in the actual service of the enemy. It is agreed that the stipulations in this article declaring that the flag shall cover the property shall be understood as applying to those nations only who recognize this principle, but if either of the contracting parties shall be at war with a third, and the other shall remain neutral, the flag of the neutral shall cover the property of enemies whose Governments acknowledge this principle, and not that of others.

ARTICLE XIX.

When the neutral flag of one of the contracting parties shall protect the property of the enemies of the other, in virtue of the preceding article, neutral property found on board enemies' vessels shall likewise be considered as enemies' property, and shall be subject to detention and confiscation, unless it shall have been put on board before the declaration of war, or even afterwards, if it were done without knowledge of such declaration, but the contracting parties agree that ignorance can not be alleged after the lapse of six months from the declaration of war. On the contrary, in those cases where the flag of the neutral does not protect enemies' property which may be found on board, the goods or merchandise of the neutral embarked in enemies' vessels shall be free.

ARTICLE XX.

The liberty of commerce and navigation stipulated for in the preceding articles shall extend to all kinds of merchandise, except the articles called contraband of war, under which name shall be comprehended,

1. Cannons, mortars, howitzers, swivels, blunderbusses, muskets, fusees, rifles, carbines, pistols, pikes, swords, sabres, lances, spears, halberds, grenades, bombs, powder, matches, balls, cartridges, and everything belonging to the use of these arms.
2. Bucklers, helmets, breast-plates, coats of mail, accoutrements, and clothes made up in military form and for military use.
3. Cavalry belts and horses, with their harness.
4. And, generally, all offensive and defensive arms made of iron, steel, brass, copper, or any other material, prepared and formed to make war by land or at sea.

In faith whereof we, the Plenipotentiaries of the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, have signed and sealed these presents.

Done at the City of Lima in duplicate, English and Spanish, this the sixth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy.

[SEAL.] ALVIN P. HOVEY.
[SEAL.] JOSE J. LOAYZA.

And whereas the said treaty has been duly ratified on both parts, and the respective ratifications were exchanged at Lima on the twenty-eighth day of May last:

Now therefore, be it known that I, ULYSSES S. GRANT, President of the United States of America, have caused the said treaty to be made public, to the end that the same, and every clause and article thereof, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this twenty-seventh day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and in the ninety-ninth year of the Independence of the United States of America.
